

This is a good petition, but is not as comprehensive as that of the ARRL's RM-10867. What ever direction the FCC takes should eleminate the code requirement from all but the highest license. The international community has chosen to eleminate this requirement, and over time its usefulness will be gone. The requirement has stopped being an important requirement in long range communication.